LERINS & BCW becomes LERINS

5 years after the merger of BCW & Associés and Lerins Jobard Chemla which led to the new firm LERINS & BCW, the firm changes its look and reveals its new identity under the name LERINS.

This new identity reflects the perfect combination of cultures of the founding firms, which form a united team. LERINS embodies the values shared by the 14 partners and all the members of the firm: innovation, quality, pragmatism and agility.

This shorter and simpler name is also intended to support the firm's strong international strategy developed over the past few years.

LERINS will soon be launching a new website under this new name to reflect its ambitions and strategic positioning.

About LERINS

The firm employs more than 50 people, including 40 lawyers specialising in business law, among whom 14 partners leading expert and recognised teams in their field. The firm's partners share a common vision in how they support their clients: proximity, technicality, pragmatism and agility: Laurent Bernet, Marguerite Brac de La Perrière, Antoine A. Camus, Luc Castagnet, Mathilde Croze, Guillaume Jarry, Laurent Julienne, Bruno Lorit, Bruno Martin, Arnaud Picard, Elsa Rodrigues, Laurent Ségal, Johann Sultan and Bertrand Vorms.

LERINS is a full-service business law firm with an important international reach.
